Ashik Alikhan (Kerala), is an abstract expressionist who draws inspiration from his own life and from concepts of urbanization, to create layered narratives. His recurrent motifs are coloured pointed dots and dynamic grids that create a unique meta-language that the artist refers to as 'super dots'.

Kandula Pradeep Kumar (Andhra Pradesh), is captivated by the concept of fragility, antiquity and of archaeological data, drawing from which he collects found materials. He recreates these materials in to sculptural forms.

Sruthi S Kumar (Kerala), focuses on a variety of materials to depict nature on canvas, offering different perspectives on the subject.
